King County
Elections

This Polynesian festival Pasefika celebrates island culture through singing, dancing, and eating. This year, the King County Elections Outreach Team joined the community in White Center for the 3rd annual Pasefika Festival.

The Elections booth was located in the field among a variety of other vendors: food, Pacific-Islander crafts and gifts, Hawaiian Airlines, and the University of Washington's Office of Minority Affairs.

The Outreach Team mingled with the crowds, registering individuals to vote and making sure registrations contained current information. Voters were pleased to see elections represented, as they feel the Pacific Islander community needs to be a more active voice in elections.

A Polynesian gospel choir entertains the crowd.

The White Center community relaxed while enjoying authentic cuisine and live music.
